1959 Excalibur

CROWN POINT HIGH SCHOOL
CROWN POINT, INDIANA

Sprawling C. P. H. S., located in the heart of the suburban Lake County seat, Crown Point, became the scene this year for its seventh alteration in 21 years. With this latest change, '58-'59 became "a year to grow on."

The original part of the main school plant, for which construction began in 1938, occupied a diminutive 18-acre campus and housed about 400 students in four grades in 1941 when the building was first opened for classes. This year, on a 23-acre campus, 1,322 students in grades seven through twelve met daily in five buildings.

Projecting C. P. H. S. into a two-story L-shaped structure were improving factors in 1948, 1952 and 1955.

Bulldog Memorial Field, the long-awaited football-track stadium, hailed '54 for the Crown Point school community. In planning now is the possible addition of a swimming pool to the area now under construction.

An industrial education building in 1955 provided then-ample facilities to house those students involved in vocational classes. The cafeteria and recreation room made their appearances then, too.

Now breathing new life into the Crown Point campus, a physical education plant and 12 classrooms are nearing completion. To be ready for use in September, 1959, the addition will replace the two portable classroom areas with ultra-modern facilities for science, art, music, physical education, and home economics. The giant newcomer will greatly broaden opportunities.

In 1958-'59—the "year to grow on"—plans and action showed Crown Point able to meet the future's challenge with promise of the best educational opportunities possible for its ever-expanding student population.

meets foe, conquers the challenge of '59

Absorbing nearly 100 additional new students yearly, C. P. H. S. in '59 enrolled 1,322 area students. Nine "feeder" schools provided 300 freshmen.

Measuring progress on the $900,000 addition are "sidewalk supers" Gilbert Weldy and Warren Garner.

To meet today's educational challenges C. P. H. S. undertook new projects in every phase of school life. One of 100 schools in 16 states, it participated in a program for the superior and talented student. This was accomplished in part by "E" and "S" classes which applied to six major fields of study: English, science, mathematics, social studies, Latin, and art.

Five new teachers and seven replacements augmented the ranks of C. P. H. S. instructors to bring the total to 51 as compared with 46 staff members last year. New to the curriculum this year were sociology, developmental reading, auto mechanics, and welding, while some science, mathematics, English, Latin, and junior high classes replaced textbooks.

Overshadowing all developments is the addition now under construction. Although this ultra-modern structure is expected to alleviate a crowded situation, Crown Point is looking already to 1962 when a predicted 1,650 enrollment will show it again bulging at the seams.

Even with modern facilities, new courses, new books, and more teachers, results will not become obvious in the near future, certainly not this year. Therefore, since the culmination of the Hub City's dreams cannot be immediate, '59 has been designated a year in which to expand, to adjust . . .

... and one to grow on!

With a selection of 4,206 books, students find the library valuable for information-seekers.

It all began September 2, 1958—the bustle of school, that is—at approximately eight o'clock in the morning. From the arrival of the first of 11 busses about 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. when the last student (usually a publications worker) straggled out the door, the halls buzzed with worthwhile activities. Almost instantly, locker doors were equipped with "No Trespassing" signs and cigar boxes loaded down with food, cosmetics, and other valuable necessities.

Records rattled from the jukebox in the recreation room about 7,000 times to satisfy dance enthusiasts, while the candy counter supplied the essential energy. Without a doubt, hunger was the most prevailing ailment of students as they daily gulped down their sack lunches or ate of the 525 nutritious meals served in the cafeteria.

Somewhere in the realm of studies was time for singing in various groups, playing in ensembles, or participating in dramatic productions. Outside rehearsals were innumerable and homework often suffered, but C. P. H. S.'ers managed to pull through. Occasional assembly programs and religious convocations—this year in two parts, three grades at a time because of a lack of seating space—gave inspiration to return to work. A freak snowstorm that gave C. P. H. S.'ers a surprise three-day vacation in January also provided return-to-class inspiration as teens learned idleness is no fun. Other activities—the "extras" of school—were Career Day and College Night.

Spring brought the usual increase in tempo as everyone—teachers and students—realized the time to get things done was rapidly diminishing. As the front lawn became dotted with noon-time sun seekers, the inside walls were plastered with "Elect _____," Commencement, and final report cards finished a year that sought only to prepare for future years.

outwitted drudgery

Looking over illustrations for books available in English class, Barb Cundiff plans a book report.

Expanding and changing as new sets of faces move into the age-old freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior ranks, C. P. H. S. now transmits knowledge in 67 subjects to its students.

In most of these classrooms the stress is off "busy work" and on the more free style of digging out gems of learning by personally seeing events, such as the state legislature, or studying sociology by visiting various churches.

Practicing this policy ever since it was established is the home economics department. Believing in the do-it-yourself way, 318 cooks and seamstresses created new delights while awaiting new quarters in the $900,000 addition. Also taking their courses literally were the 84 students each semester who drove the driver training car with its "Beware—Student Driver" sign.

Biology and chemistry hounds got their hands deep into their work as they dissected small marine animals and experimented with formulas and other evil-smelling concoctions.

The shop area was also filled with shining examples of digging deep into things. The 377 boys in shop classes came up with projects ranging from finding out what makes a car motor tick to how to create a lamp on a wood lathe. Many boys were taught how to get into the heat of things and make the sparks fly in welding class, new this year in both day and night classes. (Night school was resumed this year after a two-year absence.)

The music department voiced its lessons by presenting choral and band concerts throughout the year, while students in the journalism department wrote and re-wrote their assignments. More students took math, English, and science courses, the main stem of high school, than in any year before, chalking up more evidence of C. P. H. S.'s upward surge.

Rush, rush, rush—that's what many a C. P. H. S.'er does after the 3 o'clock bell. For although classes are often hectic, after-school hours are even more so for many students.

Nearly 400 C. P. H. S.'ers joined the ranks of the working in their part-time jobs ranging from secretarial and receptionist positions to newsboys, mechanics, and stock boys.

But the mainstay of extra-curricular activities is—and probably always will be—the clubs and organizations that abound within the halls of C. P. H. S. Increased memberships show that no matter what the field of activity there are students eager to join it.

Two organizations, the band and choir groups, are co-curricular and participating students may earn academic credits. The remaining 25 organizations are extra-curricular, usually meeting after school for their activities which include everything from practicing parliamentary procedure to making posters to boost the Bulldogs. At still other times the projects had serious purposes.

Having so many different clubs presents its problems. A student must decide whether he would rather tinker with a camera, learn the value of contour farming, or get practice in teaching. The choice is difficult to make, and many students take part in four or five different organizations.

Some organizations are honorary, choosing their members. Only letter winners in sports may belong to Lettermen's Club; students who do well scholastically may be chosen for National Honor Society; while experienced "hams" become Thespians and journalists Quill and Scroll members.

But, be they honorary or otherwise, the clubs at C. P. H. S. work for one common goal—making C. P. H. S.'ers well-rounded individuals.

Whether you talk, dance, or eat, the Sunshine-Hi-Y Christmas dance is always a gala affair.

Pep club head R. Gremel congratulates Mr. Football T. Menn and Homecoming Queen K. Claussen.

For the average C. P. H. S.'er there was little danger of his becoming a social recluse in '59. His social life consisted of thirty-four Friday night dances, six queens, two sweethearts, and four "kingly men," and then, as if this weren't enough, there were parties given by individual students.

Homecoming this year included the cremation of a Lowell Red Devil in effigy at the first bonfire in three years, a snake dance nearly two blocks long, and the crowning of the Queen and Mr. Football.

"Holiday Waltz" became the first formal Christmas dance co-sponsored by the Hi-Y and Sunshine Society. Another first was the Inklings "back to school" dance, August 29.

Dancing seemed to be the most important form of social life for the C. P. H. S.'er. From the three-year-old rec room, where anyone can dance before school, at noon, or after school, to the annual Junior-Senior Prom, the dance scene is sprightly. In '58, 150 couples took in "The Beauty of It All" at Lincolnshire Country Club, Crete, Illinois, while the classes of 1959 and 1960 celebrated at the Surf Room this year, the first for a "closed" dance.

The Excalibur-sponsored Froshmore Hop, Holly Hop, and the "Man of the Year" dance were high on the list of C. P. H. S. social activities.

Pizza parties, openhouses after graduation, and "coketail" parties before important dances were only a few of the highly rated home social activities. This year's "cold-enough" weather gave ice skating and tobogganing enthusiasts a chance to hold their own parties at the local tennis courts which the Jaycees flooded for skating, or at Buck Hill, a favorite spot for sledding, if they were willing to brave the cold.

Although the social activity for a C. P. H. S. student has undergone few changes, it is still a year he will remember as "one to grow on."

'all-time great'

A popular dance introduced this year was the Chalypso, demonstrated here by two C. P. H. S.'ers.

This is the line-up . . . of popular foot and leg wear at C. P. H. S. during this school year.

Many new fads appeared on the scene at C. P. H. S. this year. Besides the traditional clothing and food fads, certain words and phrases came into important existence. To the C. P. H. S.'ers things are "sharp and great" and each person now has at least one "idol."

Leg-o-tards of black and red, particularly, are favorites of the female populous, although most males, it was found, heartily opposed them. Muck-lucks, a type of high top shoes, were also popular. These were generally made of suede and appeared in almost every color imaginable. Girls continued wearing the traditional "flats" but also turned to new versions of T-straps with pointed toes and "spindle" or "squash" heels.

Matching shirts were still "top-drawer" with the steady set but sweaters and dresses for the girls matching shirts and sweaters for the boys became a familiar sight. A new steady ring rage, angora, found its way to C. P. H. S. After a couple exchanged rings, the feminine half wrapped hers with fluffy angora yarn to match the color of her outfit. The old standby, adhesive tape, maintained its usefulness as one of the means of holding oversized class rings on feminine hands. Rings dangling from long gold chains, too, found permanence in the steady dating category of C. P. H. S. life.

Pizza became a permanent must of C. P. H. S.'ers for after a dance or for Saturday night T.V. parties. Not to be outdone by the Italian craze, potato chips, popcorn, pretzels, coke, and pepsi were also tops on the teen's list.

Trapeze styles—especially in blouses of large floral prints and skirts and jumpers of large splash plaids also became favorites of the casual set.

Although many fads were "the thing" for teenagers in '58-'59, C. P. H. S.'ers did not go overboard with "following the crowd" . . . another sign, perhaps, that '59 is the year "to grow on."

New honors were introduced to life at C. P. H. S. in '59, as the traditional ones continued to be goals for students to reach for. Honors and awards were the "prize" given for hard work and special talents.

With increased emphasis on scholastic achievement, thirty students who earned a 3.75 grade average in five of the six grading periods were feted by the Kiwanis Club at a banquet April 29.

The annual football and basketball banquets continued to be popular with the school and community, and at the latter, Larry Liss, with the highest grade average, was announced as the Lions Club Athletic Scholar.

Honor Day was the time when the majority of awards were distributed. Hub clubs and sororities presented senior students with nine scholarships amounting to $1750. Attendance, scholarship, athletic, and extra-curricular award winners were recognized at this all school program in May.

Citizenship was the key in selecting the six boys and five girls to study government as they represent Crown Point at Boys and Girls States.

The I. U. achievement testing program offered students a chance to use the knowledge gained in classes by competing with students from all over Indiana. Five seniors reached the finals in the National Merit Scholarship exams. Students whose names appeared on the honor roll each grading period were again awarded certificates by the National Honor Society, all factors in the increasing encouragement of scholastic success.

Three departmental organizations competed this year on both the state and national level for more awards of honors. Quill and Scroll and Thespians were awards won by students with journalistic or dramatic skills, while the National Honor Society remained the goal of scholastic, service, and leadership minded upperclassmen.

Grow on!

Sports action at C.P.H.S. in 1958-59 reached a pinnacle of success never before attained in the Bulldog school. The Hub footballers posted a memorable 8-2 season record and were called the best football team in Crown Point history. The baseball version of Red and White men overpowered all area opposition on the way to fashioning a 19-3 total. The Bulldog wrestlers wracked up a 11-1-1 mark and the cross countrymen raced to the best season in C.P.H.S. history. Track and golf added convincing victories to the Bulldog win tale.

As great as the past year has been athletically for the Hubmen, '58-'59 should be just a stepping stone—the concrete foundation—from which bigger and more spectacular sports success will blossom.

ATHLETICS

som. With the increased enrollment, the improving and enlarging coaching staff, and the new physical education plant to bolster them, Bulldog athletes may rise to unparalleled heights.

High-Scoring Bulldogs Set Memorable 8-2 Record

Beginning with a 32-0 slaughter of Portage on the first day of school, September 2, the Bulldog football team, under the direction of Coach Jim Carter, fashioned a memorable 8-2 season record. Much glory was funneled toward the Bulldogs when they continued their high scoring by smashing Valparaiso's Vikings, 39-7, and Rensselaer's Bomber's, 32-14, in the next two engagements.

A match with arch-rival Merrillville was next on the Hub agenda. The Pirates proved stubborn foes and put the Bulldogs behind the eight ball, 7-6, for the first time in the season. But, after a halftime pep-talk, the Bulldogs rose up and buried the battered Pirates 32-7.

After a weak Gary Edison crew was disposed, 27-0, the Bulldog gridmen were faced with their toughest assignment of the year—a battle against Hobart's highly-regarded Brickies. Before a capacity throng on Bulldog Memorial Field, the Bricks and Bulldogs mashed each other all over the field. The frenzy ended even in every statistic except on the scoreboard where the Brickies returned home with a hard-earned 13-7 margin.

Lethargy then set in for the Bulldogs for the first half of the Calumet encounter, which ended with the Bulldogs in arrears 7-6. However, the second period was by no means comparable, as the resurgent Hubmen steamrolled the weak Warriors 61-7 in a splendid display of offensive power.

On Homecoming night fullback Ted Mann was crowned Mr. Football and the Bulldogs celebrated with a 46-6 trouncing of Lowell's Red Devils. A 34-7 pasting of Calumet Conference champion Griffith and an "unthinkable" 13-0 loss to Hammond Morton closed the winning Bulldog chapter for the '58 season.

With Powerful Offense

The Bulldogs tallied 310 points to their opponents' 74; seniors Darrell Hoyt, quarterback, John Nedderman, halfback, and Ron Thomas, tackle, were given all-state honors; and burly senior tackle Herman Barber was lauded by his teammates when they voted him their most valuable player.

The power of Bulldog runners is shown vividly by the grim faces of six Merrillville players tackling John Nedderman (30).

Reserves' Season Bright; Frosh Record Inconsistent

Reserve coaches Edward Robertson and Dave Schaeffer helped prepare some future Bulldog stars as they guided the Hub reserves to a winning 4-2-1 record against some tough opposition. The season opened dramatically with a 13-12 nosing of East Chicago Washington, one of the top area teams.

Three more smashing victories were attained by the Bulldog reserves before they hit a snag. The Hubsters rapped Valpo, 37-21, Gary Edison, 19-7, and upset Hobart, 13-6, to go undefeated halfway through the campaign.

Then the roof fell in for the Bulldogs. They were held to a scoreless tie by a weak Lowell 11 and then were battered by Griffith, 13-7, and Culver, 24-0, to finish the season.

Juniors Joe Carter, Norm Sherck, and Bill Wornhoff and sophomore Mike Kinghorn provided some 1959 varsity hopes with their stellar performances all year.

Coach Harry Allison's freshmen had a helter-skelter season, alternating wins with losses and never putting together a solid victory streak.

Overpowered by the Hub freshmen were Hobart Evans, 20-6, East Chicago Washington, 7-2, Lowell, 21-0, and Valparaiso, 20-14, to complete the varsity, reserve, and freshman 1958 domination of the Crown Point-Valpo football rivalry.

"Too late!" Tom Hargis (85) and Larry Polen (45) grumble, as Tom Rouhselang and Al Noak get an Edison player.

Ted Menn and Darrell Hoyt make sure that a touchdown is not made in the Edison game—for Edison, that is.

The frosh boys were beaten by Portage, 19-0, Lew Wallace, 9-0, Rensselaer, 6-0, and East Chicago Roosevelt, 14-0.

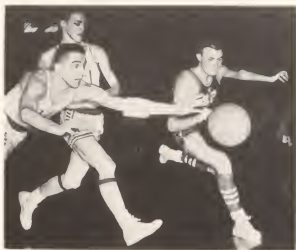

The 1959 grid season is clouded by the graduation of 18 seniors—the nucleus of the '58 crew. However, it is in turn brightened by the return of 13 junior lettermen to the Crown Point football corps.

Scrapping Bulldogs Soar to Unexpected Heights,

Faced with a graduation loss that had stripped the Bulldog ranks of six lettermen, the 1958-'59 Hub basketballers responded with an admirable 15-8 season record, including a second place showing in the rugged East Chicago sectional.

The '58-'59 Bulldogs shattered all previous C.P.H.S. sectional marks when they powered over three "north-end" foes before losing to the state's second ranked team, East Chicago Washington, in the championship tilt, 77-51.

Coach Harry Allison's little-experienced forces began the season on the right foot by submerging Chesterton's Trojans, 63-69, in their initial appearance. However, Valparaiso's veteran Vikings soon deflated the Hub ego by pounding the Red and Whikers, 76-56, with some torrid shooting.

Reach Sectional Finals

The Bulldogs rebounded well by downing Horace Mann, 47-41, and upending Calumet's fast-breaking Warriors, 53-46, in two come-from-behind victories. Then the inconsistent Hubmen hit a snag in their schedule.

Froebel's springy Blue Devils caught the Hubsters in the second half of their contest and defeated the Bulldogs 64-56. Culver took the second straight game from the Bulldogs when they nudged the Hub boys, 57-56, in a wild fracas on the Cadet court. Finally, Griffith's hot-sniping Panthers ended the 1958 portion of the season dismally for the Bulldogs by eliminating them from the Merrillville Holiday tourney in the opening round, 57-51.

With the advent of the new year the senior-studded Bulldog lineup revitalized itself and pounded highly-regarded Hammond Morton, 65-46. This victory catapulted the Bulldogs to a six-game win skein in the next three weeks.

Merrillville's Pirates courageously snubbed the Bulldog power, but were finally outmanned, 55-54, in the most hectic battle of the season. Knox was the first team to feel the sting of the new Bulldog offensive resurgence when they were massacred by the Hubmen, 81-44. Gary Edison also surrendered to the Bulldogs, 60-54.

On "Points for Polio" night the Bulldogs buried Lowell's Devils, 80-56, and three days later the Red and White men lambasted East Gary with another titanic offensive display, 86-57.

Highland stopped the Bulldog glory train with a double overtime, 50-49, upset. But, Rensselaer and Gary Wirt fell before the Bulldogs, 74-59 and 70-53, respectively, in the next two games.

Losses to Griffith, 58-55, and Portage, 70-62, and an overtime victory over Hobart's Bricksies, 55-53, ended the regular season for the Hubmen.

In the East Chicago sectional Crown Point's basketball prestige was boosted 100 per cent. The Bulldogs walloped their first two foes, Hammond Clark, 66-46, and Whiting, 74-54, to gain a Saturday afternoon semi-final berth.

Then, in the most thrilling sectional game ever seen by most observers, the battling Bulldogs overthrew highly-favored Hammond High, 54-52, in two overtimes to reach the final game against mighty Washington.

Bulldog guard Larry Liss captured sectional scoring honors with his 75 points in the four games and senior Darrell Hoyt added 56 points to the Bulldog cause—good for fourth place among sectional scorers.

Lettermen on the '58-'59 Bulldog squad were seniors Liss, Hoyt, Bill Radzwill, Larry Costin, Bob Crowell, Bud Barnett, Jim Collins, Al Noak, and George Wood. Letter-winners among the underclassmen, who will be bolstering the Bulldog ranks next year, were junior Dick Fronek and freshman Norm Mills.

But Learn Well

No, it's not a Russian dance! It's Bud Barnett's handling the ball as Larry Liss (11) and Darrell Hoyt come to his aid.

Coach Edward Robertson's reserves struggled through a dismal 6-14 season, but gained some valuable experience which should benefit them in their future varsity playing.

The Bulldog reserves lacked the consistent shooting and the smooth ball-handling to win a majority of their games, according to Coach Robertson. However, he added that the freshmen and sophomores on the reserves could develop into solid varsity material.

The Bulldog freshmen also weathered a poor season as they managed only five wins against eight defeats. However, the frosh boys were hurt when three '62'ers played on the reserve team all year.

Coach Jim Carter was not too displeased with the freshmen's overall showing. "They played some fine ball during the season and should do well in years to come."

Freshman basketball players are, first row, left to right, J. Campbell, B. Lamphier, J. Sandstrom, D. Joyce. Second row: T. Kish, J. Kirkpatrick, J. Sherwood, C. Robbins, E. Tobias.

Third row: J. Greiner, J. Crawford, J. Fouser, J. Harris, D. Kaiser, R. Proctor.

Individuals Glow for Mediocre Bulldog Trackmen

The spring cinder sport at C.P.H.S. in 1958 was a big success as far as individual performance, but rather mediocre for Bulldog track enthusiasts when they compared it to the few previous years. The Hubmen posted a 4-1-1 dual meet standard, losing their first dual meet in three years.

However, individually the Bulldogs shone. In the indoor Crown Point Invitational, in which the Red and White placed second out of four teams entered, senior Dick Iwan raced to a new 440-yard record in a time of 52.0 seconds. Although this counted as the meet record, Dick's time could not be considered as a school record because it was run indoors.

Later Dick soared up in the high jump and tied the existing school standard with a 5'10½" leap. "Little Rich" also performed well enough in the hurdle races to set a new school record of 20.9 seconds in the lows. He came within one-tenth of a second of the Bulldog high hurdle mark.

Two new Bulldog records were also set in the field events. Dave Gerold, '58, lengthened his shot put standard of 45' when he hefted the 12-pound sphere 50'8" in the sectional meet where he finished second. Senior Phil Williams topped the Bulldog pole vault mark of 11'1", set by Tom Stathis in 1955, when he boosted himself over the crossbar at 11'2" in the Hammond Relays.

It was on April 3, the Bulldogs' second dual meet of the year, that the Hub victory string was snapped. Valparaiso's Vikings overthrew the Bulldog thinclads 58½ - 50½ to end a three-year dual meet win sojourn.

The Bulldogs were denied the taste of victory only once more in head-to-head combat, though. They were tied by Culver 54½-54½ on the Cadets' track. The Hubmen blasted Hammond Clark, Hammond Morton, Merrillville, and Lowell in their other dual meet competitions.

In the Little Five meet at Hobart the Bulldogs captured second behind their old nemesis, Hobart. Then, at the Valparaiso Relays the Bulldogs nearly gained revenge from the Vikings as they were barely nudged for the team crown by the Vikes, 52½-48 7/12, while besting four other teams.

Hard Slugging, Stingy Pitching, Air Tight Fielding

An outstanding season, besting any previous baseball record at C.P.H.S., was the 1958 Bulldog baseballers' 19-3 season mark. Solid hitting, depth and skill on the pitching staff, and air-tight defense made the Bulldog diamond men a hard-to-beat combination.

After a few early season rain-outs, the Bulldog nine was forced to play every remaining school day in the last two weeks of school. They responded like champions, winning nine straight games before their final 4-0 loss to Hammond Morton.

The only other blemishes on the stickmen's card was an opening, frigid defeat inflicted by Merrillville, 4-2, and a 1-0 pitching duel between Bulldog '58 graduate Denny Lundgren and Hammond Noll's Tom Mellon which was surrendered by the Bulldogs on a seventh inning error.

Three no-hitters were flung by Bulldog pitchers. Lundgren hurled two and senior George Wood added the third with his overpowering fast ball. Right-hand veteran Bud Gremel, '58, toiled the entire season undefeated, wracking up nine victories.

Bulldog batsmen massacred opposing hurlers with a barrage of extra-base hits all year. The Hubmen drove 172 runners across the plate while limiting their opponents to only 67 tallies all season.

Ready to demonstrate the batting prowess of the Bulldogs are, left to right, D. Lundgren, D. Niemeyer, C. Nelson, P. Kerth, T. Hargis, D. Hoyt, B. Collins, D. Radzwill, and B. Gremel.

Al Noaks' batting form demonstrates Bulldog hitting power. Six lettermen reported for 1959 practice sessions.

Equal Top Hub Baseball Season

No individual stood out for the Bulldogs, but rather balance was the winning keynote. A keen double-play combination of senior Darrell Hoyt and '58 grad Bob Collins pulled Bulldog pitchers out of many tight jams with their heads-up fielding.

First sacker Phil Kerth, '58, provided solid batting punch for the Bulldogs, and senior catcher Tom "Gus" Hargis was the field general in addition to his hefty batting chores.

Chuck Nelson, junior, gave the Bulldogs some high future hopes when he entered the starting unit in mid-season and proceeded to rise near the top of the Bulldog batters with some long blows and clutch hitting.

Six senior lettermen graduated from the Bulldog ranks to deplete the baseball corps for Coach Carl W. Carnahan's 1959 campaign.

Again in 1958-59, as in the three previous years, Coach Carl W. Carnahan's Bulldog wrestlers gained an outstanding winning record of 11-1-1 against some of the state's toughest mat teams.

The Bulldogs were defeated only by sectional champion East Chicago Roosevelt in the first meet of the season, when the inexperienced Hub could not quite cope with the veterans of the Rough Rider crew. Hammond Tech put the only other mar on the Bulldog slate by tying the Hubmen, 28-28.

As the season progressed the few green hands obtained confidence, the lettermen regained their form, and the Bulldogs were practically unbeatable in dual meet competition. Even mighty East Chicago Washington, a perennial wrestling powerhouse, fell before the Bulldogs, 38-16.

In the East Chicago sectional the Carnahan-men squeezed through with a third place finish. First and second positions were held by Roosevelt and Tech, the earlier Bulldog defeaters.

However, four boys from the Bulldog team qualified for the regional meet in Lafayette. Senior 114-pounder Tim Glassford took the only Crown Point championship when he hung on in the final match for a 5-4 victory. Tim had also been the only Bulldog to wrestle the entire season without a loss.

Three sectional seconds were garnered by the Hub grapplers. Sophomore 95-pound Jack Rees, 128-pound junior Larry Cope, and 175-pound junior Joe Dahl all captured runner-up honors in their respective weight classes. Dahl just about took first place in his division before he was stunned by a hard knock on the mat and was quickly pinned by his opponent. All three of these Bulldogs suffered only one defeat apiece during the regular season.

Via Shining 11-1-1 Mark

The grim look on Larry Polen's face shows the strength needed to fell a powerful wrestler such as Joe Dahl.

Ready and waiting in the referee's position are varsity wrestlers Tim Glassford (bottom) and Roger Van Slyke (top) while teammates watch.

Other outstanding performers during the scheduled campaign for the Bulldogs were 103-pound junior Dave Coapstick, 120-pound senior Bob Rees, 133-pound senior Dick Iwan, 165-pound senior Larry Craig, and heavyweight Larry "Slim" Polen, senior. All of these boys had outstanding winning records to help boost the Bulldogs to their fine season.

Coach Carnahan rated the '58-'59 Bulldogs "on a par" with last year's 16-3 edition of Hub wrestlers. However, he pointed out that this year's crew did not have the standout individual performers that the '57-'58 bunch had, but rather succeeded on team effort and spirit.

Muscles are strained as Don Desky drives, trying to roll Randy Sabau, who is using counter-wrestling, into a pinning hold. Fundamentals helped make 1959 successful.

Golfers Swat, Blast, Putt to Winning 8-7 Record

The 1958 version of the Crown Point High School golf team drove, hooked, sliced, chipped, and putt to just over the .500 mark with a final 8-7 regular season record. Starting in the cold spring weather, the Bulldog linksmen practiced for about three weeks before their opening meet with Lew Wallace, a sound 13-2 trouncing for the fledgling Hubmen.

In this meet the first two Bulldog players were dismayed to witness a hole-in-one by a Wallace golfer. Two more defeats to Dyer and Hammond Bishop Noll came before the Bulldogs retaliated with three consecutive victories.

Three wins in the next five matches were then recorded by the Bulldogs as they tromped Lowell, Calumet, and Griffith while falling to Noll and Lew Wallace again.

The sectional meet at LaPorte netted nothing but discouragement for the Bulldogs, but they surged back after the 15-team carnival to take two out of the next three meets. In the final encounter against Valparaiso, the Bulldog clubmen were whipped 11½ to 3½ to post their 8-7 standing.

Fleet-footed Norman Mills demonstrates the speed and stamina that carried him over the finish line in the two-mile cross country runs.

Harriers Soar to Highest Peak in Hub History

Coach Malcolm Ruby's 1958 cross country version soared to the highest peak in Bulldog history, fashioning an admirable 8-2 dual meet record.

Led by sophomore flash Ray Schmidt and three hard-working seniors, Larry Liss, Dick Iwan, and Bob Crowell, the Bulldog harriers were the best all-around cross country squad in Crown Point history, according to Coach Ruby.

The thinclads began with their only two losses, to Hobart and Chesterton, sandwiched around a 17-46 stomping of River Forest. The Bulldogs then reeled off four consecutive victories, trimming Griffith and Calumet, two perennial powerhouses, and walloping Knox and East Chicago Washington.

A fifth place in the Hobart Invitational, duplicating their 1957 performance, and 14th position in the statewide Indianapolis Shortridge Invite consumed the next two Saturdays. Meanwhile, the harriers had crushed Lowell, 16-45.

The "best ever" season closed with triumphs over Hammond Morton and East Chicago Roosevelt, plus a repetition of the '57 first place showing in the 10-team Delphi Invitational.

Other letter winners for the '58 Bulldog harrier group were sophomore John Frazee, junior Brent Cunningham, and freshman Norm Mills.

Four Junior High Sports Provide Training Ground

The Crown Point junior high sports program, under the direction of Coach Charles Isley, enjoyed success in practically every athletic schedule.

The Bulldog trackmen swarmed all over their dual meet opponents in posting three consecutive wins over Chesterton, $84\frac{1}{2}$ -41 $\frac{1}{2}$, Hobart Evans, 70-56, and Ross, $75\frac{1}{2}$ -50 $\frac{1}{2}$. The junior highers were then nosed out of first place in their own relays by Hobart, 74-73, in the final event of the meet.

Outstanding performers for the Bullpup runners were half-miler Joe Harris, quarter-miler Jim Greiner, dash-men Jack Barber, Vaughn Rice, Jim Sandstrom, and Jim Pause, and field event man Norm Mills.

Early last spring a group of junior high boys reported to head football coach Jim Carter to participate on the junior high football team. When the season was concluded the Bullpups had won five games and tied one, scored 180 points to their opponents' 34, and warned all area football coaches to be wary of Bulldog grid teams in the future.

Came the basketball season and Coach Isley's charges were again out in full force for another winning record. However, signals got crossed somewhere along the line and the junior highers finished with a mediocre 4-12 year. The Bullpups played excellent ball on a few occasions, but on the whole they performed below par. In the season-end River Forest tourney the junior highers were eliminated in the first round by Portage, 25-18.

for Future Hub Varsities

Forward Vaughn Rice was the most consistent scorer for the Bullpups, while husky Jim Pause worked tirelessly under the backboards. The seventh grade version of Bullpup basketballers was more successful, closing its season with a respectable 9-6 showing.

The junior highers also tapered off in the softball season, as they managed only a split in their four scheduled games. They opened in mighty fashion when they buried the Lutheran school boys, 39-2.

However, positions were soon reversed when Taft and Lowell came to the Bullpup diamond and tripped the junior highers, 8-5 and 9-2, respectively. Revenge was gained in the final game, though, when the Bullpups smashed Taft, 11-8.

Harper, J. Clark, J. Fought, J. Banser, B. Hagle, C. Buche. Third row: S. Froedge, K. Enlow, C. Van Woerden, G. Myers, S. Seramur, C. Robbins, D. Alm, B. Briney, T. Kaiser, J. Sherwood, G. Becker.

And One to

With clubs and organizations to suit every student taste, C.P.H.S. has an abundant extracurricular sampling.

With three main music groups, two publications choices, one club devoted to school spirit, one dramatics institution, four clubs in the vocational field, a girls athletic grouping, five service clubs, a governmental department, and eight organized curricular clubs, C.P.H.S.'s 27 extracurricular activities conduct their meetings, go on field trips, plan activities, and present awards to a majority of C.P.H.S.'s 1,322 participants, thus giving students a broader educational opportunity.

Grow on!

ACTIVITIES

In many cases '59 became a year to make needed changes and improvements in the old system. Even though C.P.H.S. is able to offer a wide variety of activities, there are still holes to be filled in.

Constitution Test Makes Hi-Y Hopefuls Members

"I hope the test isn't too hard. How many questions are there?" These are a few of the worried questions of boys who are applying for membership to the Hi-Y by taking an exam on the club's constitution. The boys must be sophomores because freshmen are not eligible to join. Because Hi-Y is a service club its main project is the Sunshine-Hi-Y clothing drive. In the fall both clubs join ranks and travel all over town collecting clothes to be sent to needy people. For every hour of service the boys put in they receive two points. Some of their other services include working in the concession stand in the rec room and taking tickets at the freshmen and junior high basketball and football games.

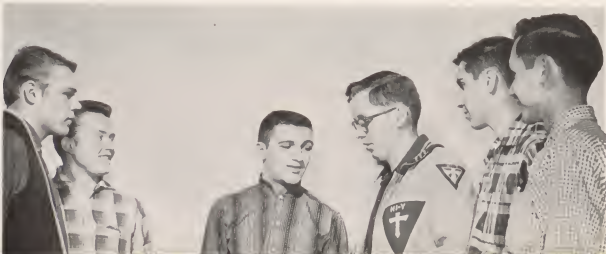

Discussing how they earned their awards for more than 100 hours work are Ron Thomas, Gary Petyko, John Brindley, Dave Overton, Tom Kruger, and John Malo.

The club sponsors two dances during the year. At Christmas they again join with the Sunshine to put on the annual dance which this year for the first time was formal. Another important dance they sponsor is the Hi-Y chapter sweetheart dance.

The '59 Sweetheart was senior Suzie Don and the dance was named in her honor.

Delphi, Indiana, was the site of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y convention in the fall. Only the officers of the club attended the convention.

Officers of the Hi-Y are Gary Petyko, president, Ron Thomas, vice-president, Dick Iwan, secretary, Al Hack, treasurer, Rick Buehler, chaplain, and Tom Kruger, sergeant-at-arms.

Sunshiner Cindy Barnett helps Mrs. Ruth Crowell, Society sponsor, distribute candy to saleswoman Carol Henderson.

Preparing Christmas favors for all teachers are Sunshiners Carla Palmer and Barbara Gerlach.

Girls' Projects Include Plans for '60 Convention

"Sunshine's Sputnik Serves" was the theme for this year signifying that Sunshine Society members try to circle the earth with good cheer and kindness for others. Membership was limited to only girls who earned points, with 50 points required to attend the Sunshine Hi-Y Christmas Formal and 100 points needed to participate in the May Breakfast. Points could be obtained by serving on committees or selling some of the 1,200 cans of candy distributed by the society.

The profit goes to the Riley Hospital fund and other charities sponsored by the state Sunshine organization. The local society plans to host the state convention in the spring of 1960 in the new gym.

A caroling party, the annual formal dance, and the clothing drive were three activities shared with the Hi-Y. Other functions, such as the Thanksgiving baskets, demonstrated the Sunshine interest in "Others."

Enacting their policy of helping others, members of the local Sunray Society contributed their talents to decorating one of the display windows in the main hall at various times throughout the year.

A committee was selected to serve refreshments at the Sunshine-Hi-Y Christmas formal. Keeping the fireplace mantel in G-2 decorated on special occasions was also a project of the society as well as serving for the Excalibur's Froshmore Hop.

The final event on the Sunray agenda was the annual Mother-Daughter tea in May. Here mothers were able to acquaint themselves with the work of the society and the future officers were installed.

This year for the first time the Sunrays initiated into the organization a point system patterned after that used by their older counterpart, the Sunshine Society. The system was the basis for determining next year's officers. Points were achieved by serving on committees and by participating in other activities of the society.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Christine Ladd, officers Pat Kruger, president, Linda Kerth, vice-president, and Verna Moore, secretary-treasurer, conducted the meetings and maintained point totals.

Helping Others, Sunrays Grow up to Clubs' Ideals

Decorating the mantel for special occasions is a job for Sunray officers Linda Kerth, secretary, Pat Kruger, president, and Verna Moore, vice-president.

Wiping dry the punch bowl used in serving the couples at the Sunshine-Hi-Y Formal are Sunrays Judy Gliniski and Carol White.

G. Semchuck, R. Gruenhagen, C. Drinski, R. Bapple, P. Hanes, and D. Dooley.

Books, Films Prove Worth as Educational Aids

Librarian Club members, with the help of school librarian Miss Esther Roney, checked in and out more than 100 books a day, took attendance in the library, and tracked down overdue books. They also helped file and catalogue the 432 new books purchased by the library this year. By volunteering to work in the library during their study hall periods, librarians also helped to keep the library a good place in which to study.

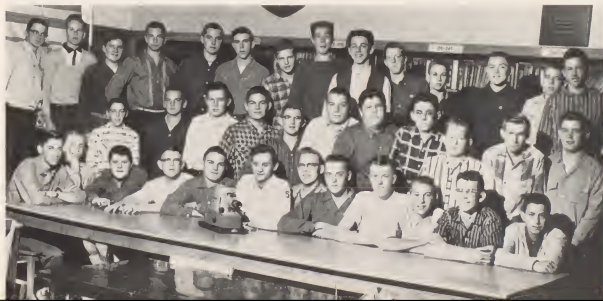

Gail Semchuck and Pat Stephenson were co-chairmen of the club, and Ruth Gruenhagen and Joan Misek were secretaries.

Not an uncommon sight in the halls of C.P.H.S. is one of hurried boys pushing small, four-wheeled carts from room to room. The boys come from the ranks of the Projectionists Club, and their job is to help spread knowledge through audio-visual aids. This year the projectionists showed more than 350 films—more than 1,500 hours of film.

The projectionists learn to handle their equipment quickly and efficiently and the proper way to maintain the machines. John Malo was club president, Cliff Esbolt, vice-president, Harold Morris, secretary, and George Weiland, treasurer.

Dixon, and O. King. Third row: J. Riley, M. Kooi, L. Bednar, D. Osborne, D. Pittman, K. Grah, R. Pahnke, D. Ogborn, J. Bohnen, L. Frye, J. Rees, R. Trulley, D. Sabau, and D. Bowman.

Booster Block, Capes, Buses All in Campaign

Cheer, cheer for dear Crown Point High! With this well-known phrase ringing in their ears, the Booster Club backed the school's teams all the way.

This year, as last year, season tickets for all home basketball games were sold, which enabled any lively C.P.H.S.'er to have a reserved seat in the big booster block for the Red and White. The spirited 200 cheerers, shouting and howling their encouragement to the team, proudly displayed the school's colors with the capes which were supplied by the Booster Club for the second year. With these bright red and white capes the "big C" could be shown to the boys on the floor and to all the fans.

Big red carnations and white gloves for the girls dressed up the cheering block at the sectional tourneys, where C.P.'s Booster Club went all out for team spirit. The 1958 block walked away from the sectionals with voices a little hoarse, but with heads held higher after receiving the sportsmanship trophy for the best cheering block. The '59 block was highly praised.

Booster Club members could be seen in the halls of C.P.H.S. just before the away football or basketball games, eagerly signing up students for the booster bus. There were buses to almost every game this year and two went to the Rensselaer football game. Four were ordered for each Bulldog session of the sectional.

Hub Spirit Soars, Earns 1958 Sectional Trophy

The homecoming festivities are always THE big project for the Booster Club each year. The night before the big game a crackling bonfire was built in the baseball field west of school, and, whooping like Indians, the Bulldog fans worked up spirit. Afterwards, they wound around the C.P. "Square" in the traditional "snake dance." The club also prepared the homecoming float, planned for the parade, and crowned Mr. Football, Ted Menn, and the queen, Kay Clausen. Officers of the organization this year were Rae Ann Gremel serving as president, and Brian Spencer as vice-president. Carol Tullis filled the secretary's role, and Tom Henderlong the treasurer's.

Rae Ann Gremel, Booster Club president, sells one of the 200 season tickets to all home basketball games, where a flashy Booster Block gave enthusiastic aid to team endeavors.

C.P.H.S.'ers eager to cheer for the team packed the many buses sponsored by the Booster Club, filling the orange vehicles with laughter and high spirits.

Hub Spirit Boosted by Trained Cheerleaders

Experiencing five days of fun and learning at the Smith-Walbridge cheerleading camp in Syracuse, Indiana, the varsity and reserve cheerleaders basked in new ideas.

Competing against the whole camp, C.P.H.S.'s varsity squad merited a first place for their version of "Who Are You Going to Yell For?" More honors were bestowed upon the cheerleaders when the University of Michigan selected from the 115 students four who were capable of handling flips and twists on the trampoline and made them members of the "Tramp Club." Three were from Crown Point: Patti See, Elaine Cohoon, and Brian Spencer. Sportsmanship and crowd psychology ranked high as topics for daily classes. Also included in discussions were cheerleading techniques, uniforms, pom pom routines, and new cheers.

George, the Bulldog mascot, underwent reconstruction during the year, changing from white to gray and appearing more ferocious. The new

Serving as varsity cheerleaders were seniors Kay Claussen and Patti See and juniors Sandy Doty, Elaine Cohoon, and Brian Spencer.

Reserve cheerleaders were Penny Dille, Sharyn Fagen, and Carole Henderson, all sophomores in accordance with the 1958 ruling that all reserve cheerleaders must be sophomores.

Freshmen Georgeann Polen, Diana Lundgren, Kathy Esser, Karen Wiltfong, and Cindy Barnett led cheers for frosh games.

Reserve and varsity cheerleaders teamed up for added support at several pep sessions and before the sectional games, when for the first time a Saturday afternoon pep session was held to prepare for backing the team at East Chicago. Cheerleaders also combined with the Booster Club in the bonfire celebrations before the homecoming, leading cheers and organizing the snake dance.

Starting the favorite "Bulldog Locomotive" are varsity cheerleaders Sandy Doty, captain Kay Claussen, Elaine Cohoon, Patti See, and Brian Spencer.

Underclass Leaders Learn Varsity Cheer Tricks

Caught in action are freshman cheerleaders Kathy Esser, Diana Lundgren, Georgeann Polen, Cindy Barnett, Karen Wiltfong.

Captain Kay Claussen leads all the cheerleaders in the traditional "Bulldog Chant." First row, left to right: the junior high cheerleaders, L. Stonex, C. Fifield, C. Patz, and D. Labadie. Second row: P. See, S. Doty, K. Wiltfong, C. Barnett, K. Esser, D. Lundgren, G. Polen, S. Fagan, P. Dille, C. Henderson, E. Cohoon, and B. Spencer.

Girls Look Forward to New Gym, Plan Play Days

A "Holiday in Hollywood," subject of the 1958 G.A.A. carnival produced by 180 active G.A.A. members in 27 acts, represented a "hick's eye view" of the famous filmland paradise on the West Coast.

Back again for the '58-'59 version of the G.A.A. variety show, 112 girls whirled the audience "Around the World in 40 Winks" in 19 dream sequences.

The carnival is an annual affair and one of the main moneymaking projects of the Girls Athletic Association.

Of the group's many and varied sports activities, which include bowling, basketball, volleyball, softball, tennis, golf, track, soccer, modern dancing, and hiking, none are new this year. However, golf, track, modern dance, tennis, and hiking have not been included in the C.P.H.S. program for several years.

New to the organization is the basketball play day held at River Forest this spring. The Crown Point representatives joined the players from other schools for rousing team play.

The planning committee is exploring the possibilities of having a Crown Point play day next year when the new gym facilities are available.

Another addition to the broadening scope of the athletic organization is an Officials Club composed of 28 G.A.A. members. The Officials Club was responsible for refereeing the girls Interclass Tourney games, which the G.A.A. won for the fifth straight year.

Carrying on the planning duties for the club was the executive council, composed of the officers of G.A.A. and the Officials Club and two members at large. They helped form a constitution, which provides the means for executive reorganization of the association for next year.

A new G.A.A. office was created, intra-mural head, to be in charge of all the organized sports activities of the club. Qualifications for this individual are that she be a senior and that she have at least 800 points.

Another money-making project of the club for the purchasing of awards and trophies and supporting the play days next year was the selling of dolls. The five types of dolls represented typical C.P.H.S.'ers in doll form.

Introducing golf and tennis, new sports added to the G.A.A. curriculum, are, left to right, officers Judy Rippy, president, Sandy Rippy, treasurer, Sue Don, vice-president, Florette Letz, secretary, and Janet Barmore, recording secretary.

"Around the World in 40 Winks," the theme of the '58-'59 carnival, began with this slumber party scene.

One act of the '58 G.A.A. Carvalnal was the dreamland sequence where lollipops literally "came alive."

Adding up their G.A.A. bowling scores are Nancy Fagen, Carolyn Blum, and Sally Cooper.

One stop in "Around the World" was Scotland where Lloyd Ann Louis, Sandra Alston, and Donna Antal gave their version of the highland fling.

New Constitution, Sports, Carnivals Equal 'Busy'!

A new point system was devised and will be put into effect next year. Each member will receive 10 points for every meeting and activity participated in. All members must attend five of the meetings, making it possible to receive a minimum of 50 points.

The basis for 1959-60 awards are as follows: shields—500 points; majors—800 points; pins—1200 points; and sweaters or plaques—2000 points.

"Oh, this looks good!" remark G.A.A.'ers Sue Davis, Elaine Rose, Mary Schaller, and Sherry Myers at the annual spring awards banquet.

shall, L. Cope, J. Collins, D. Brannock, J. Fulk, J. Lamphier, J. Gerlach, C. Maas, B. Barwig, T. Golden, B. Wornhoff, C. Nelson, N. Sherck, R. Kaiser, J. Carter, T. Menn, S. Tuhy, R. Thomas, B. Hub Athletes Score Success With Programs, Cokes

Each member of C.P.H.S.'s "big C club" sports a white letter against the background of the traditional red sweater, and, as outstanding athletes, the lettermen also display the qualities of true sportsmanship, representing strong loyalty toward the school.

C.P.H.S. is one of the few high schools in Indiana to buy letter sweaters for its award-winning boys. The school is able to do this by using a fund that the lettermen constantly add to through the sale of programs at home football games and the selling of cokes at home basketball games. Sold also this year were pencils brightly stamped with the 1958-59 basketball schedule and each bearing a big wooden basketball at one end.

Among their activities the lettermen sponsored two of the regular Friday night dances and a hayride in the fall.

Officers of the Lettermen's Club were Ted Menn, president, Joe Carter, vice-president, and Joe Straka, treasurer.

Coach Ed Robertson and Ted Menn inspect freshman Norman Mills' new "C," given with sweater to first-letter winners.

Future Nurses Investigate Job Opportunities

Nursing enthusiasts flocked to the monthly meetings of the Future Nurses Club to learn more about the human body, its proper care, and modern nursing methods. Films illustrating special phases of these subjects were shown to the girls. Also, a variety of speakers, including the director of admissions from Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago, talked to the members about nursing careers.

One of the club's activities was a trip to the Methodist Hospital in Gary where the girls caught a glimpse of their possible futures as modern day Florence Nightingales as well as basic fundamentals of the profession. The future nurses sponsored a party in the spring to top off their year's activities.

Again, as in past years, the girls earned money for the F.N.A. treasury by selling ice cream at all home basketball games.

over the sponsorship of the Future Nurses. Heading the club were the president Willie Frederixon, vice-president Carron Dille, secretary Barbara Hein, treasurer Marilyn Schmelter, and the librarian Roxalyn Hopkins.

Encouraging students to explore the teaching profession is the main goal of the Future Teachers of America. One way by which the club accomplishes this goal is placing senior students in actual classroom situations in the local elementary schools.

Another method of enlightening students as to the particular duties and responsibilities of teaching is through the monthly meetings. This year all phases of the profession were discussed and special speakers brought in to discuss in more detail such areas as journalism, coaching, high school and elementary schools and the special class at South Ward school.

A "round-up" at East Chicago Roosevelt also provided a means for the local future teachers to become better acquainted with education as a profession.

Besides sponsoring the club's dance, members sold ice cream bars at the home basketball games to build up the treasury for a trip to Ball State Teachers College.

President Steve Lewis welcomes elementary schools principal H. W. Clevenger as an F.T.A. speaker. Assisting are S. Schlemmer, vice-president; J. Baacke, treasurer; and S. Doty, secretary.

Miss Katharine Swartz and Harry Allison are the club sponsors.

Teachers-To-Be Learn New Techniques by Doing

F.T.A. members are, first row, Miss K. Swartz, sponsor, S. Briney, S. Gourley, J. Baacke, S. Doty, S. Schlemmer, M. Poling, A. Mueller, C. Francis, R. Gruenhagen, F. Letz, C. Josh, S. Vega, I. Denison. Second row: S. Lewis, S. Valles, K. Claus-

Carl Sapper, John Dixon, and Tony Wirtz examine one of the slides taken by F.F.A. members on the prize trip to Pennsylvania.

Development of better and more efficient farming methods is the goal of the local chapter of the F.F.A.—Future Farmers of America. Under the leadership of Leon Dean, agricultural instructor, the club was once again the top chapter in the district, winning six out of 10 possible firsts at the district contest.

A special project for this year was the purchase and assembly of an air compressor and steam cleaner. This machine, when completed, will be made available to chapter members.

A big event for the F.F.A. is their annual dance, at which the chapter sweetheart is crowned. This year Phyllis Noak was chosen.

Through field trips and by practical application of new farming methods, the F.F.A. works toward its goal of scientific farming.

Six Firsts Make F.F.A. Tops in District Contest

The president of the F.F.A. was Larry Meyers. The four vice-presidents, Lawrence Turnquist, Al Noak, Harold Gerbracht, and Carl Sapper, were each in charge of a major field interest in the club. Bill Deutsch was club secretary, and Tony Wirtz was treasurer.

Iliff, J. Hamilton. Second row: J. Collins, S. Lewis, T. Kruger, B. Murray, J. Brindley, P. Stephenson, B. Vandersee.

Actors and Artists Paint With Grease and Oils

"Artists in make believe" are the Thespians of C.P.H.S. The 14 actors and actresses in the honorary organization earned their ways into it by working on direction and production crews and by taking part in plays. Ten points are required before a Drama Club member can become a Thespian. An initiation for new Thespians is held once each semester with Dan McGinnis, Gail Sundquist, Debby Ruby, Ron Kors, Bill Briggs, Carol Osenga, Nancy Rush, Bill Champion, and Mary Jane McCoy initiated in January.

After three o'clock on any school day paint brush and easel enthusiasts could be seen in the art room. Every other Wednesday afternoon was the Art Club's official meeting time.

Members decorated the school's attendance office and took a trip to the Chicago Art Institute. Also a Halloween dance, complete with yellow moon and black cat, and a tobogganing party were sponsored by the club.

This year the club had membership cards, which were distributed by the officers: Jean Spencer, president, Celia Josh, vice-president, Arlene Nagy, secretary, and Roxy Hopkins, treasurer.

Third row: F. Hann, E. Fields, J. Sherwood, D. Trump, D. Thomas, D. Ogborn, L. Mitchell, B. Rees, J. Kretschmar, K. Licina.

Officers Dave Werblo, Rich Fronek, and Bill Radzwill look over the trophy to be given to the victorious team in the Inter-class Tourney.

Machine Shop Hums as Machinists Learn Crafts

Ever wonder who sponsored the big battles of the Inter-class Tourney this year? Just ask any member of the Machinists Club. This organization's biggest project was lining up players for the basketball teams in the tourney, scheduling the practices, and providing the refreshments. By selling tickets to these games and by taking charge of one of the weekly school hops, the machinists were able to augment both their activity schedule and their treasury. With these funds the boys bought additional equipment for C.P.H.S.'s machine shop.

With about 25 members, each curious to know the makings and operations of any piece of machinery, the club often took field trips to local industries. The Letz Manufacturing Company, Merz Machine and Tool Works, the Ford Plant, and a plant which makes automatic coffee machines were visited by the machinists.

Bill Radzwill was the club's president, Richard Fronek was the vice-president, and David Werblo was the secretary-treasurer. Joseph Seale, machine shop instructor, is the group's sponsor.

Shutters Click While Amateur Scientists Probe

Shutterbugs at C.P.H.S. have been able to put their talents to good work this year. A special project has been keeping a record on film of the growth of the new building addition. Members also took publicity pictures for the Holly Hop queen candidates. Besides taking pictures, Camera Club members also learn the art of developing pictures and how to care for a camera.

Paul Collins was club president, Mickey Mitchell, vice-president, and Gytis Jajas, secretary-treasurer. Club sponsor is Joseph Heuer.

The beepings of Sputniks and Vanguards in 1959 continued to herald the space age and stress the value of science. At C.P.H.S. 35 students interested in science became members of the Science Club to increase their knowledge and practice of scientific activities.

At meetings the members used this knowledge to conduct experiments, interpret films, and to exchange ideas and information.

John Malo was president, Joe Carter, vice-president, and Carol Tullis, secretary-treasurer.

Languages Club Uses Modern Learning Methods

Modern Languages Club members meet twice a month to satisfy their curiosity about the places, events, and people behind their studies of French and Spanish. They learn from movies, reports, and tapes on the tape recorder. Such activities enhance their understanding of foreign languages and how they differ from English.

At the club's dance students had to say something in Spanish or French to be admitted, or "suffer the consequences"—more money!

Gold pins were purchased this year for the first time by the language students. The main pin had MLC outlined in black enamel, and either a French or Spanish guard could be obtained to distinguish the two languages.

William Naylor, Spanish and French teacher, supervised the meetings.

Sandra Alston receives her club pin from Judy Baacke. The pins were a new privilege of membership this year.

Representing Modern Language Club are officers Kay Simmers, president, Diana Root, vice-president, Judy Roth, secretary, and Rita Goodman, treasurer.

Rome Rebuilt in Two Years by Parties, Programs

When in Rome, do as the Romans do. Observing this age old adage, Latin students worked throughout the year to maintain Roman traditions by putting on skits about Rome and the Romans. At Christmas they even wrote letters to Santa in Latin!

The Latin Club, composed of second year Latin students, is devoted to the study of the Romans and their way of life. At one meeting Roman dress might be discussed, while Roman mythology could make up the subject of the next meeting. Every phase of Roman life and culture is at least touched upon. Latin scholars learn about Roman art, music, entertainment, games, and government. They have fun while learning why Janus had two faces and how naval battles were held in the amphitheaters.

This year a play, "This is your life, Julius Caesar," was given. It depicted the life—and death—of Gaius Julius Caesar.

Another project was the celebration of the Roman equivalent to Christmas—the Saturnalia—in the same manner as the Romans did. The Latin Club went to the Museum of Natural History in Chicago to see its Roman exhibit. On this trip, which is an annual affair, they have a chance to see Roman articles ranging from spoons to coffins.

"Romans" at the Latin Club banquet decide that the real Romans must have eaten lavishly.

The brightest event for the Latin Club is the annual Roman banquet, this year on May 8. At this banquet the club members and their guests of honor, the seniors who had been in the Latin Club, are served by freshman "slaves." The banquet is in traditional Roman style, complete with Roman clothing and foods. The food is brought by the slaves, and the guests proceed to eat without silverware.

Freshman "slaves" provide entertainment for Latin Club members at the banquet.

Real "characters" in the play are T. Menn, L. Polen, T. Glassford, T. Hargis, and D. Glassford, sprawled on the floor.

Grover's Corners Provides Setting for Seniors

Without scenery and with few props the senior class took the audience back through time to little Grover's Corners as "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder was recreated November 7-8.

Directed by Mrs. Norma Schaeffer, the modern classic told the importance of "really living" and being aware of life while alive.

The story of Emily Webb (Patti See), her father (Bill Briggs), mother (Pat Stephenson), brother (Bob Rees), and their neighbors, George Gibbs (Jim Collins), his father (Jon Hedman), mother (Barb Vandersee), and sister (Kay Clausen) was told by the stage manager (Dan McGinnis).

"Oh, Filmer (Tim Glassford)!" cries Mrs. Little (Patti See) as Jon Hedman, Pat Stephenson, and Tom Kruger look on.

While Littles Fight Crews Keep Backstage Peace

"Where's my book? I can't go on without it!" This was only one of the many backstage comments heard before the '59'ers presented their junior play, "The Fighting Littles," by Caroline Francke.

A typical American family, the Littles enjoyed an average life with Mr. Little (Jon Hedman), a fairly well-to-do business man and his charming wife (Patti See), who tried to keep the household running smoothly. Problems arise when Filmer (Tim Glassford), their son, decided he's in love with the little neighbor girl, Antoinette (Lynette Iliff). Then Goody, their daughter (Debbie Kincy) really explodes when her father accuses her friends, particularly Ham Ellers (Tom Kruger) of being "young hoodlums." To try and please her father, Goody goes out with Norman Peel (Bill Murray) but soon realizes that Ham is the only one for her.

Dramatists Practice Skill With One-Act Plays

Under the guidance of Mrs. Norma Schaeffer, the theater aspirants of C.P.H.S. gathered in Room 211 to learn the techniques and many phases of drama. Besides practicing to transmit feeling, the members studied the art of applying make-up and worked on production crews for the one-act plays given by the club. They also worked on technical crews for the junior and senior class plays.

Four one-act plays were presented during the year, starting with "The Valiant," produced by the club members at the January Thespian initiation. The actors were Dave Shaver, Dan McGinnis, Steve Tuhy, Sandy Douglas, and Steve Lewis. The second play, "Sunny Morning," starred John Brindley and Sue Driscoll. Club officers were Patti See, president, Margie Reis, vice-president, Sue Brannock, secretary, and Tom Kruger, treasurer.

Honor Society's 13 Encourage Highest Standards

A main project of the National Honor Society is service—service not only to its members, but also to the students of the school. One way they help others is through the presentation of programs on colleges and college life. This year one program was on college extensions, and students from Indiana University, Purdue University, and St. Joseph's College extensions gave their views on life at an extension. The students tried to cover all phases of extension life and brought out many of the advantages—and disadvantages—of an extension.

During the Christmas vacation the Honor Society gave a party for the seniors and for college students who graduated last year. Seniors then could get first hand information about different colleges.

Another project is the recognition of the students who make honor roll grades for five of the six six-week grading periods. At a spring program these students are given certificates of merit to show that they have had a high scholastic standing for the year.

In the spring, 10 per cent of the senior class, and five per cent of the junior class are rewarded with memberships in the Honor Society for showing outstanding character, service, leadership, and scholarship. All students displaying these qualities are eligible for membership, although the actual choice is left up to the faculty.

Council Aids Leaders; Committee Picks Drivers

Planning and conducting a leadership conference was an important event for the Student Council this year. For the first time all the officers of school activities were invited to attend a conference where they listened to James Knight, a local businessman, talk to them about the responsibilities of leadership. The presidents and vice-presidents were put into one group while the secretaries and treasurers attended another.

Student Council members again were in charge of the recreation room and this year initiated a new system to keep the area ship-shape. Records for the rec room jukebox as well as the one in the gym used for Friday night dances were purchased by the council's record committee. Concessions were also sold in the rec room.

In November the council officers, president Tim Glassford, vice-president Ron Thomas, secretary Karen Schroeder, and treasurer John Brindley attended the meeting of the Indiana Association of Student Councils.

The council also conducted the annual elections in the spring, introduced the Class of 1962 in the school's second pre-school freshman orien-

An annual Christmas concert, sponsored jointly with the band, a special Christmas performance in which the entire choir was invited to entertain at one of the local organization's holiday parties, and the three annual convocations—Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter—formed a major portion of the choir activities this year.

A second chili supper became an annual money-making project for the choir this year. Members served the chili and provided the entertainment for the evening with mothers of choir members taking care of the cooking.

Out of a total of 58 choir entries in the district piano and vocal solo and ensemble contest at Lew Wallace school, Gary, three earned the right to attend the state version of this contest at Butler University, Indianapolis. Two of these earned first place awards and one earned the second place rating of excellent.

Another big feature on the choir's agenda was their annual appearance at the baccalaureate services for graduates.

An acquisition of the choir during the year was a three-speed phonograph and tape recorder to be used strictly by the choir.

This year did not prove to be all work and no play for choir members, though. Among their extracurricular activities were an ice skating party after the state vocal contests and a decorating party at Christmas time, when one day was set aside to decorate the music room and listen to recorded Christmas carols.

The work of the choir was further carried on in the form of ensembles. A dance band trio, the Accidentals, was formed as were a dance band duet, a boys' pop quartet, and the Hummingbirds and Bel Tones. A new type of organization this year, the Madrigals, composed of choir members more experienced in the techniques of sight reading, gave new opportunities to the more thoroughly trained students. These ensembles were often invited to sing for civic organizations and church programs.

A second annual "Pop Concert," a Christmas concert, sponsored jointly with the A Cappella choir, and a winter concert made up the special program activities of the music department. An exchange concert, the Memorial Day parade, and the appearance of the band in the commencement exercises were other projects of the musicians.

An "enjoyment" trip to Riverview amusement park in Chicago finished off the activity calendar for the band as well as giving them a final chance to appear in contest in the Riverview marching competition.

Cadets Add Color, Contests

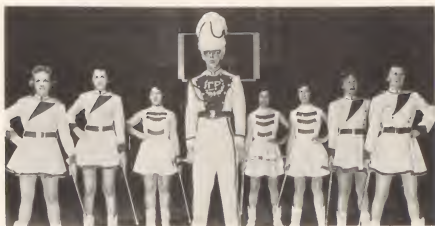

This year the junior band boasted of 66 members. Struttin' Jim Knight, drum major, led the band through maneuvers at homecoming and the Veterans Day and Armistice Day parades. The band also participated in a concert and many of the members entered the district solo and ensemble contest.

Spice as Musicians Vie for Quality and Honors

In order to keep an already-established top-notch reputation, members of C.P.H.S.'s own dance band assemble once a week for an hour and a half to study and interpret their music. The dance band rendered its services for dances and other occasions—for a fee, of course—playing anything from Strauss to rock 'n' roll.

Other schools throughout the area particularly sought out the Hub band for their big dances. As the end of the school year approached, the members totaled their proceeds and headed for Chicago, dinner, and a show—fit reward for a year of entertaining others.

Early every morning during the summer, senior Bill Briggs, drum major, along with 15 cadets and seven majorettes worked on routines for the approaching football season. Sporting new uniforms of white with red fringe and carrying two red shakers, the three-year-old cadet organization mastered advanced techniques.

Both groups, the cadets and majorettes, performed at the annual pop concert in November. City policeman Don O'Niones taught the majorettes their baton twirling routines. Each girl wore an all-white uniform which with the use of black lighting glowed in the dark.

Turtle Races, Contests Boost Paper Circulation

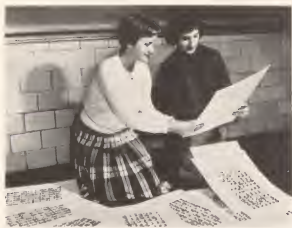

Bustling Room 108 is hardly a place for slow pokes; nevertheless, the busy publications room became very turtle-conscious in the fall when the Inklings sponsored a turtle derby to boost circulation. Circulation was increased by bounds both semesters, and even though the very rarest of weather happened—C.P.H.S. closed down for three days because of snow—the circulation and editorial staffs kept meeting the deadlines.

Editor Kay Simmers and sports editor Larry Liss examine a page of the paper set in type, the final stage before it is printed.

Covering beats and adding "sniffs" and stories to the many six and eight-page and regular four-page papers, plus a C.P.H.S. page in the Hammond Times, were jobs of the journalism class and staff. The 1958-59 issues put many firsts on the Inklings records: a two-page literary supplement, a "George-ite" column telling of parties around the school, and a new nameplate showing off C.P.H.S. in a line drawing.

Inklings managers Steve Lewis, Judy Roth, Bonnie Baldwin, and Dan Root gather to watch as the "mercury" rises in the thermometer measuring subscriptions.

Deadlines Prove Hurdle Enough for Yearbook Staff

Proving its worth last summer, the preliminary plans of the '59 Excalibur took first place in the top budget division in the yearbook section of the High School Journalism Institute at Indiana University. Taking more awards, the '58 annual won a fifth straight All-American from National Scholastic Press Association and a first place from Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

A new point system as a basis for awards initiated staff members in the techniques of turning assignments in on time.

Two types of training sessions, a fall meeting and dinner, and the spring sessions for prospective Excalibur staff members, were sponsored by the staff in an effort to acquaint the younger members with their responsibilities and duties.

Expanding people-wise, Crown Point High School changed its face during the summer months to provide more room for the ever-increasing student body. Junior high students were relocated for part of each day in three improvised classrooms in the gym. Welding classes took over the school garage and the rec room doubled as a "sack lunch" room when two rooms previously open during lunch hours were put back into use as classrooms. An actual count shows 1,322 students in the six grades this year, comparing to the 1,242 in 1958. Expected next year is a jump of another 116 students.

Grow on!

PERSONALITIES

Additional faculty to care for present and anticipated needs also marked this year. A year of growth in all phases, physical, mental, and spiritual, '59 recorded itself in the lives of the personalities who make C.P.H.S.

Principal Gilbert Weldy greets visitors with a smile from his desk in the main office, the center of all school activity.

Hub Administrators Learn

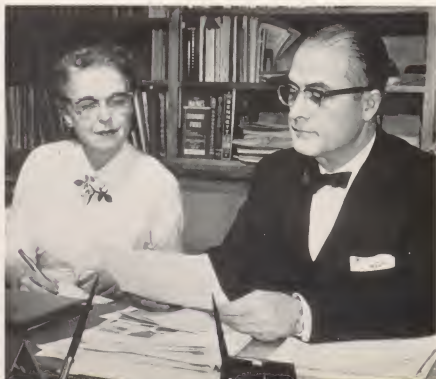

A growing school plant along with a growing student body meant added problems and responsibilities for the administrators of Crown Point High School. Gilbert Weldy, principal, kept the school machinery in smooth running order, with Warren Garner, assistant principal and dean of boys, and Mrs. Cornelia Wood, dean of girls, completing the administrative staff.

In its second year, the administrative council worked closely with both the Student Council and faculty, handling the problems and policies arising with an expanding school population.

Deciding on such problems as restrictions on prom attendance, a social code, and a restricted parking area because of the construction were only a few of the considerations. Members of the council are Mr. Weldy, Mr. Garner, Mrs. Helen Palmer, guidance director, Mrs. Wood, Carl Carnahan, Mrs. Margaret Mracek, and Mrs. Janice Dean.

The people who own and operate the schools are represented by Kenneth Knight, Mrs. Thea Vance, and Paul Rapp, who compose the school board. Carrying out board policies as superintendent of schools for the third year is Robert J. Brannock.

At his office at Solon Robinson School, Superintendent Robert J. Brannock checks a letter with secretary Mrs. Ruth O'Neill.

Growth Has Problems

Mrs. Cornelia Wood, dean of girls, and assistant principal Warren Garner check attendance for C.P.H.S.'s 1,322 pupils.

Mrs. Helen Palmer as guidance director helps students plan their courses for each of the four years of school.

Keeping school records and money in order are only two of the helpful jobs performed by Mrs. Marie Olson and Miss Ella Blackstone.

Mrs. Ruth O'Neill, Mrs. Floyd Vance, school board secretary, Robert Brannock, Kenneth Knight, school board president, and Paul Rapp, school board treasurer, look over advance plans for the new school addition.

'Fantabulous' '59'ers Make C.P.H.S. Term Eventful

Four years ago 315 brand new freshmen invaded C.P.H.S. and its sacred traditions. In a matter of four short years the impossible was accomplished. Not only did the Class of '59 graduate the largest number of seniors in the school's history, but it also established for itself a reputation for having the most widely recognized class spirit of recent years.

During the occupancy of the "fantabulous" '59'ers many earth shaking events took place on the world scene. The space age made its presence known and the technical rather than the aesthetic side of life was rocketed into importance in most schools.

Conditions necessitated the addition of a new physical education plant and 12 new classrooms. New courses, new books, new equipment, and new instructors were tried out on the '59'ers as well as new methods of learning — the "E" classes for example.

New senior hats appeared, replacing the traditional derbys. Leg-a-tards, the chalyppo, and Elvis Presley presented themselves on the C.P.H.S. scene, and in turn, were pushed into the background of the everchanging high school panorama by new "idols" and "all-time greats." The '59'ers boasted five finalists in the National Merit Scholarship testing program.

Memories—"The Fighting Littles," a distinctly different pattern in class rings, the junior stand, and class sweaters bearing the class colors of navy on white in old English lettering—set off the first three years of class activities.

As seniors, "Our Town," the class play, remains high on the list of unforgettable experiences. Term papers, government tests, senior week, the athletic triumphs of '59, and graduation present topics of conversation for future get-togethers of '59'ers.

As 222 seniors, clad in "cardinal red" robes (another first) march to the platform for their long awaited diplomas the last reverberating cry of "hip, hip, hurray, '59 all the way" will sound its prophetic echo through C.P.H.S. halls and '59 will make way for a new batch of "freshies," the Class of '63.

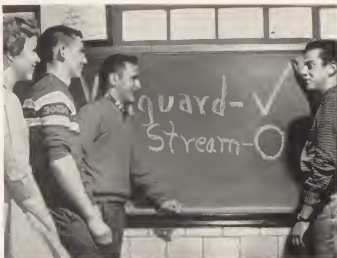

JUNIORS

SOPHOMORES

Again with maps to guide them through the bustling halls of C.P.H.S., a new set of freshmen began the routines of high school life. The Class of '62 chose (left to right) Nancy Tuhy, treasurer; Bonnie Cooper, secretary; Norman Mills, president, and Dixie Paarlberg, vice-president, to lead them during this year filled with new experiences. Looking over posters for the Froshmore Hop, underclass semiformal, are the officers, who help plan the Hop.

Practicing before one of their 17 games are junior high cheerleaders Lynne Stonex, Connie Fifield, Connie Patz, and Don Labadie, the first boy to have this honor.

and Work Cooperatively

"Look out for the junior high!" is a familiar warning by most senior high students as they scramble to yield the right of way in the halls to speeding seventh and eighth graders. Such a pace is maintained all year—and particularly this year with the walk to the gym added to the daily itinerary—by the junior high as they strive to complete their activities.

A magazine drive is the first big project in which the students compete against each other for the highest sales of subscriptions. To reward the winner for his excellent job a clock radio was given. The total sales reached approximately $4100. Roller skating parties—full of spills and surprises—picnics, and most important of all the class parties, are the ingredients that compose their social whirl.

Serving the hungry crowds at football and basketball games by operating the popcorn machine proves to be fun and a financial boost. Junior high students also tried their skill at "hamming it up" by giving a successful musical comedy "Tom Sawyer."

Sunray and the Junior High Science Club are organizations in which seventh and eighth graders may participate. Sunrays (all girls) join for the purpose of helping others. The community gains from the actions of these clubs, and a better quality of students is produced.

It's no wonder that junior high students are always racing everywhere. They have much for which to find time.

Talking over their salesmanship methods are Eric Foreman, David Aken, and Jim Crowell, high magazine salesmen.

Looking over the missile they built on junior high science club time are Jim Pugh and Tom Piper.

And One to

Grow on!

To be modernistic is the trend of Crown Point merchants as the stores, lined around the square facing the aged, red-bricked courthouse, are continually being remodeled or expanded to accommodate the increasing population.

The town itself is gradually blossoming into a thriving city as the children bulge the schools and the adults cram the stores buying their daily needs. Keeping items up to date proves a big project for the individual owners as they strive to meet the requirements of the demanding public. Many of the patrons are students of Crown Point High who are subject to the warm and friendly atmosphere created by the dealers.

Population, stores, churches, schools, and homes all are included in the immense growth. Such is the prosperity of a once small town accepting the responsibility of raising educated citizens to assist in its development.

what's their future

The young people you see in these pictures are all on their way to successful careers in one of America's basic industries . . . steel. They decided (as we hope you will decide) to let Inland Steel Company help them plan their future.

Some are gaining knowledge and experience in special trades to become journeyman machinists, carpenters or electricians . . . some are concentrating on certain phases of steelmaking by working in the open hearth shops, the cold rolling mills or the galvanizing lines. Still others are working in laboratories building a sound foundation for a future in steel research.

Inland offers the high school graduate an excellent opportunity to further his education. Employees may participate in a variety of on-the-job training programs, or they can continue their formal education by registering for evening courses offered by local Purdue and Indiana University Extension Centers.

Plan now to investigate the unlimited opportunities for you in steel . . . with the midwest's own steel company . . . INLAND STEEL.
